Through discussion, coaching and practical reflection, the session will explore some of the formal and informal dynamics that shape how work gets done and careers progress. COACHING CIRCLE

POWER CIRCLE: POWER CIRCLE: WHO GETS THE MICROPHONE? CHOOSING WHICH VOICE LEADS YOUR CAREER

For lawyers who know they're capable of more, but recognise the Saboteur that shows up at the moments that matter, telling them to wait until they're ready, soften what they really think or play safe. In this experiential coaching circle, you'll learn to recognise when your Saboteur is influencing your choices, understand what it's trying to protect, and access your Leader Within so you can make your next career decision with greater agency and intention. The Saboteur can stay in the room. It just doesn't get to run the show anymore.

POWER CIRCLE - THE SILENT STRESS RESPONSE: HOW TO PERFORM WITHOUT BURNING OUT

Law is a high-demanding, high-achieving profession, and it asks a lot of the people in it. This session helps lawyers recognise the toll that demand takes on the body, often silently, and equips them with personalised, evidence-based techniques and habits they can weave directly into their working lives, without it costing them their career. The goal isn't to survive the pressure. It's to protect their health inside it.

PARALLEL MASTERCLASS

LEGORA: BEFORE THE COFFEE GETS COLD ESCAPE

You're the lawyer. The client's in a panic. There are 200 documents to get through, and you've got 45 minutes. This interactive, slightly competitive escape room challenge drops you into a realistic (but fictional) scenario where you'll work through the problem using Legora: finding answers, piecing things together, and pulling a clear output together before the clock runs out. We'll start with a 10-minute demo so you know your way around the platform, then dive in as a group. No prior experience with Legora is needed, and our Legal Engineers will be on hand throughout to guide you. Expect a few twists, some hidden clues, and the occasional "oh, that's clever" moment along the way.

DEEP SKILLS WORKSHOP

DEEP SKILLS: WHY SOME TRAINEES GET KEPT AND OTHERS DON'T.

One of the hardest things a trainee faces is not the law itself, but getting the information they need to do the job well. Partners and supervisors are busy, instructions are vague, and trainees are often left trying to act on half a brief without knowing what's really being asked. We'll cover: What firms actually judge them on, and why the ability to elicit information and exercise judgement matters more than ever in an AI-driven profession. A live simulation. A senior lawyer will step into an AI-powered simulation in front of the room, playing the role of a trainee trying to extract a proper brief from a distracted, senior colleague. It shows just how much skill sits in something we assume is simple. Live coaching. We'll break down what happened together, drawing out the specific moments that separate a trainee who gets what they need from one who walks away under-briefed. Practical takeaways every trainee can use the very next day, on managing up, asking better questions, and making sound decisions under time pressure.

DEEP SKILLS WORKSHOP

DEEP SKILLS WORKSHOP: “IT’S NOT PERSONAL. IT’S PROGRESSION.” JUNIOR TO MID-LEVEL LAWYERS.

Negative feedback hits harder when you’re the only one in the room - and no generic career advice accounts for that. In this Deep Skills workshop, Caroline Flanagan, The Black Lawyers’ Coach, challenges the belief that negative feedback is bad news for your career. It isn’t. It’s the fastest lever you have. You’ll learn how to ask for it before it’s too late to use, how to receive it without it becoming personal, and where to find it when no one’s giving it to you straight. Walk out with a written next move you can act on the minute you’re back in the office.
